LONG ISLAND CITY -- Tyler Wood Gallery is pleased to present an exhibition of new works by John Dante Bianchi.

My newest grouping of work titled Enantiodromia at Tyler Wood Gallery continues my previous bodies of works of hybrid sculpture and painting. Influenced by the psychological ideas of the Double Bind and the individuation process these new works reflect the idea of integrating the unconscious and conscious minds.

As before I aim to re-contextualize bodily and psychic trauma as an opportunity for regeneration and growth, breaking down existing forms to make way for the creation of new ones. This counterintuitive process is critical to many processes of growth and both personal and public development.

By collapsing the antithetical ideas of permanence/ impermanence, destruction/ creation, natural/ synthetic, past/ future, sculpture/ painting I'm hoping to escape the binary confines of thinking.

--John Dante Bianchi

Bianchi received an MFA from Yale University and BFA from Cooper Union. He has had one-person exhibitions at Tyler Wood Gallery in San Francisco; Galerie Derouillon, Paris; Denny Gallery, New York; Thierry Goldberg Gallery, New York; Signal Gallery, Brooklyn; and Primetime, Brooklyn. He has been included in group exhibitions at Galerie Derouillon, Paris; David Zwirner, New York; James Fuentes, New York; and Night Gallery, Los Angeles.
